- WHY: Of the many services The Midnight provides to our unique community, one of the most important is the sense of family and community we provide to those who often feel lost and forgotten, especially on national holidays and other days of celebration. Events like this allow those in our Skid Row community to know that people care and that there is hope for recovery from homelessness and its many causes. We are grateful to our wonderful donors, volunteers and friends who make it possible for us to continue offering our life-saving and life-changing programs to anyone in need free of charge.
